

Parenting Across Color Lines

Strives as a group to build relationships among parents, teens and adult adoptees,
To support and strengthen racial identity in transracial families,
Through developing dialog, monthly meetings, and events.

Last month we watched “Dear White People.” This movie provided much to discuss so we decided to continue talking about the challenges of coming into your own identity amid cultural expectations/biases. It is not necessary to have seen the movie to have thoughts and feelings about this.
